BACKGROUND

Air pollution in India is becoming a major environmental and public health concern due to its exceptionally rising levels crossing multiple times the standards prescribed. This ever increasing air pollution is also affecting our build environment, where people spend more than 90% of their daily times. Therefore, air pollution is recognized as the 5th and indoor air pollution as second largest killer in India as per Global burden of disease report. It has also been linked to Sick Building Syndrome (SBS) which is well known in terms of severely affecting productivity in offices, industries, schools and other urban buildings yet it has not been given its due importance in India. To address the issues of indoor environment, the experts from all the esteemed organizations in India, (including IITs, NITs, CSIR-NEERI, EMC, IPCA, ICMR, University of Delhi) have decided to create a forum named, "Society for Indoor Environment", which has been incepted on 3rd February 2017 under Society registration act 1860.

VISION

To remain foremost source of technical knowledge on Indoor Environmental Quality (IEQ), mainstream IEQ in education, influence national policies, regulations and standards on IEQ and bring diverse stakeholders together on a common platform and develop collectively holistic solutions.

MISSION

To promote awareness among individual, community, industry and government for creating healthy indoor environments through multi-sectoral participation.
